

APPRECIATING FLOWERS

These days, most people do not spend their time appreciating flowers. People around me are always busy working and tending to the demands of their daily lives, but appreciating flowers excites me and adds meaning to my life. Flowers remind me of the natural beauty around us, even if we don't notice it sometimes. But I always love how the flowers look.

In mid-July 2023, Madam Kwang Ah Kui is standing at her HDB door, watching flowers with a smile. She is ninety years old and finds traditional clothing to be most comfortable and stylish. At her age, it is hard to hear from far but her mind and eyes are as sharp as ever. I asked her for permission to post her artwork online and she acquiesced. Within hours, word spread, and countless people had seen her lovely art of flowers. Many thanked the artist for producing art and continuing to draw these masterpieces. I am always happy to express that her artwork inspires people to watch flowers longer.
